

Zillios completely changes the way the real estate market operates providing a state of the art scalable infrastructure to all key stakeholders, including smart contract based features to tackle current inefficiencies in rental and buying processes. Blockchain-based property transfer is foreseen in Zillios' technology providing a future-proof infrastructure.

Zillios challenges the real estate status quo offering free property listings both to owners and agents putting an end to the fragmented property offer for buyers. Its pay per click geo-based property listing auction system provides agents and owners with full listing position control and transparency on their marketing expenses and puts an end to unclear costs, fixed monthly fees and high commissions, the business model of the leading property rental and sales portals.
